All Agree Four Got Fair Trial

By JACK V. FOX
United Press International
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Negroes and whites alike generally hailed today the conviction of four white youths for the rape of a Negro coed as a victory for justice in the South.

The opinion regarding the jury's recommendation of mercy leaving the youths from the electric chair was not unanimous, however. Several prominent leaders of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People were critical of the move.

The guilty verdict was returned early Sunday by the all-male, all-white jury.

Only 42 days elapsed between the mass attack on the 19-year-old Negro freshman coed and the guilty sentence.

The jury left the length of the prison sentences up to Judge W. W. Walker. He will not pass sentence for at least two weeks.

Officers Attending Convention

Police Chief Charlie Marr and Sgt. Barney Weeks are in Asland, Kentucky, this week attending the Kentucky Peace Officers Convention. The convention is being held in Ashland the first three days of this week. Both Marr and Weeks are expected to return to Murray Thursday morning.

A spokesman for the police department said this morning that only one arrest was made during the past weekend. One person was arrested and charged with drunkenness. This was the only action taken by the department other than routine business.

Policemen also said that Saturday night, a boy's bicycle was found on the sidewalk in front of Swann's Market on South Fourth. The bicycle has been taken to the city hall where it can be claimed by the owner. Anyone who has lost a bicycle is asked to call the police department.

Two Are Arrested On Theft Charge

Two men who allegedly held up and robbed Herbert, Broach and Lex Camp early Sunday morning were arrested and jailed in Paris less than three hours later, according to Sheriff Cohen Subbield.

The sheriff said this morning that the two men, Jerry Miller and Jesse Dean of Paris, offered to bring Broach and Camp to Murray from the Triple Club south of Hazel, and that they held them up on the way to town on the state line road on the Kentucky side. The incident is reported to have occurred about 1:00 Sunday morning.

Broach and Camp were robbed of $21.00, a cigarette lighter and their loose change at gun point, according to the sheriff.

Both Miller and Dean were arrested in Paris at 3:15 Sunday morning by the Henry County sheriff. Sheriff Subbield said that the two men would be brought to the county jail in Murray to await the action of the grand jury.

22 Foot Shark Kills Diver

LA JOLLA, Calif. (UPI) — A 22 foot long killer shark dragged an experienced skin diver under water and killed him Sunday off a crowded beach.

The victim's wife and best friend witnessed the swift attack on Robert L. Pampin, 33, of nearby Pacific Beach. Pampin, the father of two children and an aircraft engineer, was diving off the beach at the popular LaJolla Cove at the time.

The cove was crowded with sunbathers and swimmers.

"We were diving off the cove," said the friend, Gerald Lehrer, 30. "I guess we were about 12 feet out when Bob yelled, 'help me.'"

"I swam over. I adjusted my mask so I could see under water. And I saw an enormous shark holding Bob in the mid-section. There was blood all over."

Pampin's wife Carolyn witnessed the tragedy from shore. During the search for his body, she collapsed.

The body has not yet been found.

The shark was easily more than 20 feet long, Lehrer said. "I was not able to do anything anymore. So I swam to shore to warn the other swimmers."

It was the second such incident off California beaches in recent weeks. The earlier attack, by a huge gray shark in San Francisco Bay, resulted in death for a college youth.

A veteran of 3 years lifeguard duty, Capt. Charles Hardy, said it was the first such incident in San Diego area waters in his career.

Penitentiary Warden Dewitt Sinclair said the three younger boys were put in a section with other youths and Collinsworth is with the men. Both Collinsworth, a telephone linesman, and the child-looking Stoutamire cried during the testimony but all four took the verdict without showing emotion.

Judge, Prosecutor Praised

The Rev. A. J. Reddick, pastor of the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church and past Florida president of the NAACP, said the judge and prosecutor had conducted the case in an exemplary manner.

But Florida has maintained its excellent record of not veering from the precedent that no white man has ever been executed for the rape of a Negro. Had it been the other way around, Negroes would have been given the death penalty," he said.

Jury foreman A. H. King, a wealthy Florida farmer, told United Press International that had the verdict been beaten the jury would have been inclined to inflict the death penalty.

King said the jury at no time discussed the racial question in reaching its verdict.

The Rev. Daniel Speed, assistant pastor of the Bethel Baptist Negro Church, said his congregation almost unanimously was satisfied with the verdict except a few thought there should have been a death penalty.

"Today we have moved one step closer to justice," he said in his Sunday morning sermon.

The girl herself was sequestered in her home. She would not answer through her mother whether she thought the verdict was just. The mother declined to comment, too, and told reporters she was concerned about the girl who was still shaken by her experience and the ordeal on the witness stand.

Just What Hit That Prized Item The United States Government Bond; Government Itself

By Lyle C. Wilson
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — What hit that once-prized item, the U. S. government bond?

What hit that bond so hard that the U. S. Treasury cannot easily sell it to U. S. investors at 4 1/2 per cent interest?

The first hit was by a charge of bookshooting from the U. S. Supreme Court in 1935. The court held that Treasury need not redeem government bonds in gold.

That opinion did the real value and real interest on U. S. bonds to the real value of the dollar. Since then the dollar has shrunk in real value until it is worth today less than 50 cents, compared to its purchasing power value of 20 years ago. The U. S. dollar has been suffering from a misery called inflation which in those 20 years has eaten up half of the dollar's previous value.

Big Spending Starts

The Supreme Court decision on gold redemption in itself would not have been so much except for what was beginning to happen just then and what has continued to take place thereafter. Collaborators in these events shook harmful to the U. S. dollar were three men, each of whom was a president of the United States. They were:

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Each of these, in turn, presided over the executive department of the United States when that department and the U. S. Congress were on an inflationary spending spree.

FDR and HST were Democratic presidents and they were, by and large, spenders. Each had a hot war to keep the spending tempo high. DDE is a Republican and, like his immediate predecessors, Eisenhower has a war going although his is cold. A basic difference between FDR and HST as a pair and DDE as a loner has been that Eisenhower entered the White House with a pledge and determination toward economy whereas other two generally took the spending line.

He spends More

FDR and HST were high tax presidents. DDE was committed to tax reduction and managed to put one through in view of these basic differences on taxation and spending, it is remarkable that in his six years of White House service, Eisenhower has collected more in taxes and spent more government money than HST was able to collect and spend in eight years or FDR to collect and spend in 12.

Here's the box score:

Revenue	Expenditures
FDR $161,355,000,000	$374,397,000,000

Billy Graham Visits Moscow Church

MOSCOW (UPI) — Evangelist Billy Graham said today his current trip to Moscow would help him decide whether it will be possible for him to realize his longstanding dream of holding a crusade in Russia.

He said his visit may be an "important step" in reaching that decision.

Born the North Carolina-born evangelist has a set of three children, he says must be met at any such religious crusades in this country. He said he discussed his conditions with the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and they are:

—His own translator rather than one provided by the Soviet government.

—A large hall in which to conduct the crusade meetings.

—Full advance publicity of the crusade.

Graham visited Moscow's sole Protestant church, the small, crowded First Baptist, tucked away on one of this city's back streets.

He sat through the hour-long morning service as a spectator, then returned for another service during the evening. He was not introduced to the congregation formally at either service, but he chatted informally with some of them afterwards.

Hot Weather Is Slated To Return

United Press International
Hot weather spread from the Northern Plains into the upper Mississippi Valley today and a Louisiana community cleaned up after a tornado.

The twister swept through a rural area west of Abbeville, La., Sunday, injuring two persons, damaging three houses and unroofing a garage.

Southerly winds and bright sunlight sent the mercury soaring as far north as Montana and the Dakotas. A high of 102 degrees was reported Sunday at Philip, S. D.

Forecasters said the warm air would spread over much of the Mississippi Valley into the Great Lakes today. A warning trend also was expected from the upper Ohio Valley eastward to the coast.

Heaviest rain Sunday night was reported in southern Florida, where Miami recorded 3 1/2 inches in six hours. Light, scattered rain was reported along the Gulf of Mexico, in New England, over the western Great Lakes and in parts of the Rocky Mountains.

An accountant in the Planning Division of the Department for 13 years, Blakmore said he had planned a career with the state. But Friday, 45 minutes after being quitting time, Blakmore "said he was handed a letter saying his services with the department were no longer needed. No reason was given for the action. Blakmore said he had no political interests whatsoever."

Approximately 71 per cent of Blakmore's salary of more than $400 per month was paid by the federal government.

Blakmore had been complimentary to the federal government for his outstanding work thus far, but with no conclusion that his work was not satisfactory.

Blakmore and Martin married sisters.

Prosperity Here In Murray Well Above Average

NEW YORK — Prosperity is again on the march in Murray, with families earning more and spending more than those in most sections of the United States.

The resiliency of the local economy, after a year of strong recession, is to be seen in the final figures for 1958 now in.

The upward climb in the last quarter of the year brought the retail sales volume for 1958 up to $16,949,000, not far behind the previous year's $17,274,000.

The data is revealed in Sales Management's new, copyrighted Survey of Buying Power, covering every part of the nation.

It shows that the volume of business done by the local stores was more than should have been expected for a community of its size.

On the basis of population, local retail activity should have been only 65.3 per cent of the national. Instead, it amounted to 80.4 per cent.

The credit for the recovery is given to consumer confidence and optimism, bolstered by continued good earnings.

The survey shows that Murray families had a net income in the year, after deduction of personal taxes, of $14,438,000.

Per household, it was equivalent to $4,512 an average obtained by dividing total income by number of households.

This was more than was earned on the average in the East South Central States, $4,448 per household.

With retail sales greater than income locally, it is apparent that the city is a trading center for people in other areas.

Business was much better in some parts of the country than in others. This is brought out in the survey through an "index of sales activity," which takes into account such factors as population and per capita retail sales.

For Murray, the index rating is 142, or 42 per cent above the national average.

All signs point to the fact that the way back from recession is in full swing. Gains in business, registered in the first quarter of this year, are being surpassed in the present quarter.

It is being fed by a record personal income that makes possible long-delayed big purchases, such as new homes, cars, boats and travel.

Economists are now forecasting that 1959 will top all previous years.

Rain Stops Girl Scout Day Camp

Bowing reluctantly to inevitable, Friday morning, the Murray Girl Scout Day Camp Sakakawea cancelled further activity because of extensive and frequent rains. This was the second hard blow of the week. On Sunday, the direct-ors, Mrs. Alton Harwill, Jr., had been called to Minneapolis on the death of her father. The Camp Committee and Staff are exceedingly grateful to Mrs. Everett Ward Outland, who immediately assumed the duties of Mrs. Harwill and carried them out ably.

But even Mrs. Outland could not prevail upon the weather. Consequently the Girl Scouts were able to camp only on Monday.

On this day, however, the girls on four units (the Pioneer Unit had preceded them the night before and remained Monday night until the rains drove them homeward) with the assistance of the Senior Aides, they began work on their projects (arts and crafts).

They were: Margaret Ruth Crider, Mary Lou Bryant, Carol Quercus, Lynnette Lassister, Sally Sprunger, Eva Carol Overcast, Andrea Sykes, Suzie Outland, Tina Sprunger (arts and crafts), Kay Winning (music), Nancy Ryan (music) and Evelyn Williams (nature). Under the delightful leadership of Mr. W. B. Moser, the girls began work on their Tree Badge, and with Tina Sprunger's help they learned how to reproduce leaves and plants by soiled prints. Singing and camp housekeeping occupied other times of the day. Nurse Maddox spent a quiet day, coping with only one minor emergency. Seemingly unfatigued after all this, the girls sang their way home to Murray in their two chartered buses.

Will Request Regulations For Leasing

The officers and directors of the Western Dark Fired Tobacco Association, Murray, Kentucky, in cooperation with the Eastern Dark Fired Tobacco Growers Association of Springfield, Tennessee, and the Stemming District Association at Henderson, Kentucky, will request the United States Department of Agriculture to utilize authority contained in existing law to set up administrative regulations for leasing of tobacco allotments between farmers of the same county in the dark tobacco producing areas of Kentucky and Tennessee.

Holmes Ellis, Manager of the Western Association said today that regulations authorizing leasing of tobacco allotments would result in improved quality and lower the cost of production and tend to preserve allotments within a county.

Leasing of allotments between producers within the same county on an annual basis would leave ownership of the allotments with the land owner; regulations would have to be set up limiting the amount that any producer might lease. The Association does not favor direct sale of allotments.

Hoyt Roberts Is Vet Appraiser Here

Hoyt Roberts of Murray has been appointed to the position of Veteran's Administration Appraiser for Callaway County and the surrounding area.

Roberts, owner of Roberts Realty, was appointed to the position by the Veterans' Administration last week. He will appraise all property for which applications have been made for a loan from the administration.

Elroy Face Throws A Fork Ball That May Make Him The Ace In The Hole Deal Pittsburgh Needs For Jackpot

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International
Deal the Pirates in for a possible pennant jackpot as long as they keep coming up with that same ace in the hole.

His name is Elroy Face, his record is 10-0 and he now has won 15 straight games in relief dating back to May, 1958. Face, a tireless 150-pounder, stands only five feet, eight inches but he has been standing the hitters on their heads so effectively that the Pirates now are only 3 1/2 games removed from the National League lead and are hopeful of landing in their first World Series since 1927.

Face throws a fork ball and it's turning out to be a meal-and-potatoes pitch for the Pirates, who swept a doubleheader from the Dodgers Sunday, 6-3, and 5-2, with a big assist from their pint-sized relief ace.

Face fans four Making his fourth appearance in five days and sixth in eight games, Face entered the opener in the eighth inning with the score tied 3-3. He struck out one batter in the eighth, then fanned the side in the ninth to earn a standing ovation from 30,082 fans at Forbes Field.

The Pirates won the game by rallying for three runs in the bottom of the eighth, scoring the tie-breaking run on Gil Hodges' error. Dick Stuart drove in three runs in the eighth with his 11th and 12th homers to help Vernon Law to his 10th triumph.

The Chicago Cubs blanked first-place Milwaukee, 6-0, but the Braves actually increased their lead to 1 1/2 games over the second-place Giants, who dropped a twin-bill to the Phillies, 7-5 and 6-3. The Cardinals won their opener on the Reds, 5-4, but Cincinnati took the nightcap, 3-2.

In the American League, the game lead by sweeping a pair White Sox retained their half-point lead over the Orioles, 9-6, and 3-2 in 10 innings; the Indians beat the Senators twice, 9-5 and 12-4; the Tigers won both ends of a doubleheader from the Yankees, 3-2 and 8-2, and the Red Sox emerged from the cellar with a 6-1 triumph over the Athletics. A scheduled second game between Boston and Kansas City was postponed because of rain.

Dick Drott of the Cubs, fresh off the disabled list, held the Braves to seven hits in winning his first game of the year. Lee Walls drove in three of Chicago's runs and Ernie Banks another pair.

Gene Freese was the key man in Philadelphia's two victories over San Francisco. His three-run homer in the fourth inning of the opener capped a decisive six-run rally and his single with the bases loaded broke a 3-3 tie in the eighth inning of the nightcap.

Early Wynn of the White Sox helped himself to four hits in beating the Orioles in the first game of his ninth victory while Al Smith's 10th inning single sank Baltimore in the nightcap.

Minnie Minoso drove in a total of nine runs in Cleveland's sweep of Washington. Minoso hit a homer each game, including a grand slam in the ninth inning of the nightcap.

Charlie Maxwell utilized his famed "Sunday punch" in pacing the Tigers to their sweep over the Yankees. Maxwell's three-run homer off lower Whitey Ford in the eighth inning brought the Tigers from behind and extended Frank Lary's life time record over New York to 19-5. The homer was Maxwell's 14th, the eighth one he has hit on a Sunday this

By JACK CUDDY
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Sugar Ray Robinson, dethroned as middle-weight champion by the National Boxing Association and threatened by the New York State Athletic Commission, may seek sanctuary in Europe.

"I've been offered a big guarantee by promoter Fritz Grieschell of Berlin to defend my title against Gustav Scholz if I'm forced out of my own country," said Sugar Ray today.

Scholz, of Germany, is the fourth-ranking contender, but he has been rejected as challenger by both the NBA and the New York commission. Each organization insisted that 39-year-old Robinson defend against former champion Carmen Basilio of Chateaugay, N. Y.

The NBA vacated Robinson's 160-pound championship Monday because of his excessive delay in signing for a defense against Basilio. And the independent New York commission probably will follow suit if he fails to sign by May 15 for a Basilio match.

Orders Title Bout
Although the European Boxing Union has a working agreement with the NBA, it's uncertain whether the EBU would concure with the NBA in dethroning Sugar Ray, were he to sign for the Scholz fight in Germany. West Germany is a member of the EBU.

Dr. Ward Wylie, president of the NBA, announced the withdrawal of championship recognition from Robinson at Muhlen, W. Va., Monday. At the same time, Wylie ordered a fight for the vacant crown within 90 days between former champion Basilio and Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah.

Wylie said the Basilio-Fullmer winner would defend against an NBA-selected challenger within 90 days thereafter, and that the challenger might be third-ranking Spider Webb of Chicago.

As far as the United States, Canada and Mexico are concerned, Robinson now is recognized as champion only in New York state. And he declared flatly at a press conference Monday night he never would defend in New York "as long as the present boxing commission is in office."

Charges Politics
He charged the New York commission had rejected Scholz as an acceptable challenger and had insisted upon Basilio "because of politics and the lingering power of Jim Norris," Multimillionaire Norris was head of the court-busted International Boxing Club monopoly. Now he is top man in new organization, Chicago Boxing Enterprises.

Despite Robinson's anti-New York proclamation, Chairman Melvin L. Krulwich of the New York commission said today, "I still hope Robinson will sign for a Basilio fight before May 15. We'd like to have that fight in New York state."

What action the New York commission will take if Sugar Ray fails to meet the May 15 deadline "will be decided when the time comes," the chairman said.

Meanwhile, promoter Norman Rothchild of Syracuse, N. Y., announced he had signed Basilio and Fullmer to fight for the vacant crown at Syracuse "in the summer or fall." He can not get commission approval of the match until after May 15.

Robinson hasn't fought since he recaptured the 160-pound crown from Basilio on March 25, 1958.

Despite his apparently demoralized plight, Robinson declared Monday night, "For a Basilio defense, I'm raising my demand for a guarantee from $750,000 to $1,000,000."

season. Then in the nightcap, he doubled during a four-run first inning rally that eased the way for Paul Foytack's fifth victory.

Tod Williams was benched for weak hitting for the first time in his career as the Red Sox beat the A's behind the five-hit pitching of Jerry Casale. Pete Daley led Boston's 13-hit attack with two doubles and a pair of singles. Johnny Kucks was the loser.

ASYLUM FROM CUBA—Cuban Army Capt. Francisco Rodriguez, arriving in Miami, Fla., on a purchasing mission, looks solemn as he asks political asylum. He says Cuba's government is dominated by Communists, and that they set off the Nicaraguan revolt. He said they systematically indoctrinate the Cuban army with Marxist ideas, and use Russian officers as military instructors.

Changing directions while swimming is another safety skill Johnny will need to know. To change directions while swimming on the front, he needs only to reach an arm in the new direction and look toward this extended arm. While swimming on his back, he should tilt his head in the direction he wants to go and stroke hard with the opposite hand.

Turning over in the water is another skill Johnny should learn. The upper picture shows the procedure in turning from front to back. He should lower one shoulder and turn his head in the opposite direction, with the arms under water. To turn from back to front, shown in the lower picture, he should lower one shoulder, turning his head in the same direction. Have him start swimming the human stroke as soon as the turn from back to front is completed.

To teach Johnny to enter the water properly by jumping, line him up on the swimming pool deck where the water is chest deep. Have him jump in, strike the bottom, push off in an upward and forward motion, and immediately begin to

OBITUARY
The life of one of God's faithful servants ended May 28, John Hardy Curd. He was born May 10, 1870, and was 89 years of age. He was married to Mollie G. Carr on New Year's Day, 1899. To this union were born eight children. One daughter died in infancy, seven survive him: Gardner, Wavel, John, T. G. Jewell, Thelma and Laura. Also one sister, Mrs. C. H. Jackson. He obeyed the gospel in early manhood and was a member of the Union Grove Church of Christ.

He was a devoted, faithful husband, a noble Christian gentleman, and we have every reason to believe that when he was called to quit the walks of this life that he had gone to live in the spirit-land realm where peace, joy and happiness will be forever more. May we also live that when our summons comes we can have the assurance that our souls having been washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb, will be translated to the celestial home, the beautiful City of God where there will be eternal joy and supreme happiness with sorrow and suffering ended and all tears wiped away.

With all our grief at his going, let us thank God that the faithful Bro. Curd is not only released from the trials and tribulations of this earth, but has exchanged them for the spiritual realm where with angel voices sweetly singing he is now at rest, and when Jesus comes to gather his jewels home he will be among the number. The Christian is will to be absent from the body and present with the Lord, so let us think of Bro. Curd still as the same. He is not dead, he is just away. 17P

THE COUNT OF 9 by A.A. FAIR (Erle Stanley Gardner)
CHAPTER 27
HEY, BUDDY," a voice called, "snap out of it!"
I looked up from my hold on the mailbox and tried to grin. "Come on over here. Let's have a talk," said the voice.
It was a police car, a radio prowl. Two officers were in the front seat.
I walked across to it as best I could.
"What are you celebrating?" one of the men asked.
"I'm not celebrating," I said. "That's blood on my shirt," the other one said. "Hey, what happened?"
"A couple of thugs took me in the vacant lot, rolled me and left me for dead."
"Got a driver's license?" one of the officers asked.
I put my hand in my pocket and pulled out my identification. One of the officers studied the wallet with its cards of identification. The other kept his eyes on me.
The officer with the wallet gave a low whistle. "The guy's a private eye, Jim. Name's Donald Lam."
The other one said to me, "What are you doing out here, Lam?"
"I was calling on a man in connection with an investigation I was making. While I had my car parked in front of his house, two thugs got in the back of the car and crouched down in the shadows. I jumped in the car without looking and... well, they had me dead to rights. One of them stuck a gun in the back of my neck and told me to drive into a vacant lot down the street."
"Where's your car now?"
"Evidently they took it."
"You got the license number and all that?"
"That's right."
"All right. We'll put out a bulletin on it and maybe catch them—you look beat up pretty bad... Who were you calling on out here?"
"It was confidential business."
"Who do you think you're kidding? Let's have his name."
"Mortimer Jasper," I said.
"Where does he live?"
"About a block and a half down and turn to the right."
"Get in," the officer said. "Show us."
I got in the car and directed them to Jasper's house.
"All right, Lam. Out you go," the officer said.
It was agony getting out, but one of the men helped me while the other one stayed with the prowl car to monitor the short-wave radio.
I went up the steps of the house, and the officer rang the bell.
After a minute the door was opened.
Mortimer Jasper stood in the doorway, his manner apologetic, his watery blue eyes mildly curious. "Is there something?" he asked.
"I'm an officer," the man said. "This fellow claims he was calling on you earlier this evening on a matter of business. Two men jumped on him and rolled him."
"Calling on me?" Jasper asked, his voice rising at just the right note of incredulous surprise.
"That's right."
"But that is impossible. I have had no callers all evening. I have had no callers all evening."
"Take a look at him," the officer said, turning me around so the light from the doorway came on my features.
Jasper said, "I don't know what kind of a racket this is, but I have never seen this man before in my life."
The officer looked at me apologetically. "Okay, Lam," he said, "we'll take you to headquarters. Perhaps you can think up a better story by the time you get there."
The officer walked me back to the car.
The officer in the car said, "How'd you come out?"
"Jasper says he never saw the guy in his life," the officer said. "I've been busy checking on the radio," the officer behind the wheel said. "He's a private operator, all right; has a license and is in good standing. They're working on this Crockett case. You know, Dean Crockett who was murdered. Inspector Giddings and Sergeant Sellers are working on that. They want him brought in."
Inspector Giddings looked me over. "Well, well," he said, "you certainly look as though you'd been put through the meat grinder. Now, cut the comedy and tell me what really happened."
I tried to grin, but my face was too lopsided with swelling, and one eye was pretty well puffed up. It hurt when I straightened up. "I ran into a door in the dark," I said.
Giddings gave me the benefit of a professional inspection; the way a trainer might look over a battered prize fighter in between rounds to see whether it was worth while throwing in the towel.
"You look as though you took the full count," he said.
"Only the count of nine," I told him.
"You think you're still in there fighting?"
"Yes."

Challenges Texas Jurisdiction
The hearing also challenges Texas jurisdiction to have him committed to the University of Texas hospital.

If Long wins release in the hearing today, he will beat a full-scale sanity hearing scheduled for Tuesday in Probate Court. The fiery, 63-year-old governor has been held in the hospital since he was dragged, tied hand and foot and brought to the hospital "forcibly, unwittingly and unwillingly." He signed the petition "Earl Long, governor in exile, by force in kidnapping."

Sunday Long embellished his charges in a rambling interview by telephone with Charles Ray, news editor of KTBS-TV in Shreveport, La.

Charges Political Scheme
Long charged in the taped interview that his wife and political associates, including Sen. Russell Long, conspired to get him out of Louisiana to further their own political ambitions.

Sen. Long replied in Washington that "the governor is not responsible for that statement or any one of a large number of others he can be expected to make in the next few days. The governor is a sick man."

Mrs. Blanche Long, who remained to help her hold Long in the hospital said "Mrs. Long tells me there is absolutely nothing to the statement and that her only purpose is in helping restore her husband to his normal health."

Long charges in the interview that "I was captivated Thursday night but I didn't realize it until Friday morning. They brought two boys crutches, one weighed 290 and one 180. We had 11 lights Thursday night and Friday."

The governor went on in sometimes repeated phrases to say that "3 people" put him on the airplane and told him they were going to take him to a clinic in New Orleans but flew him to Galveston instead.

He claimed somebody put up $250,000 to have him kidnapped.

A CHARMING ADDITION, this dining room was added to the floor plan of a four-room house for a cost of about $2,000. The green, yellow and black scheme is set by the wallpaper.

Home Is What She Made It

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

YOUNG couples aren't the only ones who are house-happy. Single career girls are, too, for purchasing a home is an investment that makes sense because it saves dollars. Why pay high rent on a small apartment and, after years, have nothing to show for it? Instead, you can buy a house, pay off the mortgage and eventually own something that has resale value. That's what a number of wise working girls are doing.

Perfect Home

One, we know, found a perfect little home in a suburb close to her city job. It had just four rooms but, for a cost of about $2,000, she added a fifth room that has increased the value of the house and made it more livable.

The original plan featured two bedrooms. At back, facing the yard, were a living room and a kitchen. The latter projected from the main part of the house and had a door to the yard.

Dining Room Added

The home lacked a dining room and, since this is a girl who likes cooking and enjoys entertaining, one was added. The back living room wall was removed and a 14 by 11 foot dining room with a 10-foot wide window was added. This necessitated a bit of doing-over in the kitchen, where the kitchen door to the yard now opened into the newly added dining room. How to get outdoors to tend the garden? Our career girl wisely replaced a wide kitchen window with two Dutch doors that do a double job. Door tops are glass so they reveal a view of the garden even as they offer access to it.

KITCHEN WINDOW was replaced by glass-topped Dutch doors that offer a view of the garden as well as access to it.

Clever Touches

Interior decorating also features clever touches. To create an air of spaciousness, living and dining rooms are separated by louvered doors that can be folded back to merge both rooms. And, since they sometimes combine, living and dining color schemes match. A Provincial pattern in wallpaper and coordinated fabric ties the two rooms together effectively.

On Walls and Sofa

The paper is used on dining room walls, while the fabric covers a living room sofa. Window dressings in both areas are similar. For decoration, as well as privacy, white organdy café curtains are backed by vinyl-coated window shades. The shades, which have an embroidered design, go well with the crisp curtains.

WHEN LOUVERED DOORS are folded back, living and dining areas merge so their color schemes match. Sofa slipcover is the same Provincial pattern as the dining room wallpaper.
